5. Key Communications

All Governors continue to be in receipt of daily updates regarding the Trust's Covid-19 position. I have ensured that other key communications continue to be shared as a matter of course so that you continue to remain in touch with all developments at our Trust. As a reminder, Governors continue to have access to Let's Talk (staff newsletter), the daily Covid-19 global emails to staff (which also include links to the Chief Executive's podcasts and videos). I do hope that you continue to find this of value.

Our latest Trust member communications produced by the Communications team was circulated in June. This is available for download here. The easy read version has been commissioned and the link will be provided to Governors shortly. I would like to encourage Governors to ensure that they routinely circulate our membership communications across their networks and contacts.

Appendix 1 Our new Governors

Professor Anne Forster

Anne is the Head of the Academic Unit for Ageing and Stroke Research (ASR), which although part of the University of Leeds has been based in, and supported by, Bradford Teaching Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust for more than 30 years. She is a physiotherapist by background and a National Institute for Health Research (NIHR) Senior Investigator. Current grant income is over £11 million with the majority of its work funded by the NIHR. Anne is proud to work at the Trust and pleased to contribute to its ongoing development as a Governor.

Caroline Chapman, Public Governor Shipley

Caroline was elected Public Governor for Shipley in May 2021. Caroline leads Marketing and Communications at Incommunities, where she is responsible for corporate communications, internal communications, employee engagement and external affairs. She is passionate about Bradford, the work of the NHS, and ensuring its modernisation remains true to the NHS Constitution and is based on need, accessible to all and accountable to the communities it serves. and Humber Communications Group for the National Housing Federation. She is also holds a certificate in Organisational Development from Roffey Park.

Ibrar Hussain, Public Governor Bradford West

Ibrar works in the legal profession specialising in criminal defence work, and recently became a councillor on Bradford Council. He's also a trustee for a charity which supports vulnerable people within the Bradford district and across the world by providing a food bank and hot meals including a weekly soup kitchen. Ibrar believes that the NHS must be protected, and is particularly keen to help ensure the Trust continues to focus on its strategic objectives and the challenges it faces, while safeguarding its primary purpose – delivering high-quality healthcare.

Adrian Cresswell, Public Governor Bradford South

I was born in Bradford and myself and my family have all benefited from the care and expertise of Bradford Hospitals. My children were born at the maternity unit. My mother worked in the health service as a nurse for 40 years. She trained and worked in Bradford hospitals all her career and she loved it. I want to be a governor so I can contribute to maintaining and improving this invaluable part of our community. I am a former head teacher and have over 25 years' experience of being on governing bodies and understand how they work. More importantly I feel I know how to use them to make the institution they represent work more efficiently with the patient and the community at the centre of everything they do. Hospitals are large, complex organisations that run at great expense. I do believe, however, that the very best hospitals operate with only one thing in mind: the patient. Their physical health, their mental health, their dignity and the quality of their life in their years ahead. I would like to help the hospitals of Bradford to continue to do this now and in the future. I am married and live in Bradford. I like sport, travel and theatre. I play golf and tennis and watch my old rugby team, Bradford Salem, every Saturday with a few of my old teammates. I also enjoy a curry – in the best tradition of a true Bradfordian.
