

The Trust is committed to the integration of risk management into the general operational management of services and functions to provide a safe, effective and efficient health care environment, whilst ensuring quality care and the safety of patients as well as a safe environment for staff to work in. The Trust recognises that to achieve this level of effective risk management, sound processes are essential in order that risks are managed in a co-herent manner; and so that all types of risk are addressed holistically through business and financial planning and in day to day management. To this end the Trust has adopted a co-ordinated and multi disciplinary approach in managing its risks through a systematic process of identification, analysis, learning, control and management.
